Last Thursday we, with the band, went to Fredericktown and took in the Odd-Fellows celebration. Taking the Arcadia Accommodation to Bismarck, we then got a standing berth on the special train run by De Soto, Bismarck and Farmington Lodges-the first named Lodge having chartered two coaches, and the latter two, one each. As was more fully developed on the return, there was either a lack of coaches or a surplus of passengers; the Lodges selling the tickets, we presume, preferred to have the former rather than its opposite, and they succeeded right well.
